ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The calibration device includes a guide surface and an angle gauge supported relative to the guide surface on a first side of the guide surface. The angle gauge is adjustable to measure a skew angle of the ultrasonic transducer on the guide surface. The angle gauge is slidable along a length of the guide surface. The angle gauge is rotatably supported parallel to the guide surface. A gauge block rotatably supports the angle gauge.